Chancellor who survive her, also a husband and eight children, five boys and three girls, the oldest 21 and the youngest 4 and a brother and sister.

She will be greatly missed in her home and never forgotten. She has gone where no sorrows ever come. May the Lord bless and keep the loved ones that are left at home.

An Interesting Address

Mr. W. J. Piggott, of Irvington, delivered a very interesting and explanatory address in the Methodist church Sunday on the great Centenary drive that is now on by the members of the Southern Methodist church to raise $35,000,000 for the cause of missions.

Mr. Piggott is a pleasant and fluent speaker and his address was greatly appreciated by those who heard it.

Mrs. Snider Joins Her Husband.

Mrs. Hugh Willis Snider, left yesterday for Louisville, where she goes to join her husband, who has arrived at Camp Taylor. Mr. Snider was in the army of occupation in Germany, and as soon as he is discharged they will go to Bloomfield to his farm he left when he was called to the colors.

NORMAN S. GREGORY EXPECTED THIS WEEK.

Has Had An Adventurous Time On The Front.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gregory have received notice of the safe arrival of their son, Norman S. Gregory, who arrived in New York, May 13, and was sent to Camp Dix for demobilization. He is expected home the latter part of this week. Norman has had an adventurous time as he was injured on a transport going over and was confined several times at a hospital in England for several weeks. When released he was sent to France and was attached to the Field Signal Battalion of the 78 Division, known as the Lightning Division, and upon his arrival at the front he was among the 12 men selected out of 160, to go across no man's land the first night to lay communication wires. His line was destroyed eight times that night and he got three hits and gassed, but came out alright and took part in 78th Division drive in the Argonne Woods when they were sent to rescue the 77th Division, the last battalion at Grand-Pre. This place was taken in 35 minutes, what the 77th failed to take in two days action, and so rapid was this furious charge made on the Huns that it took the Rainbow Division 3 days to catch up with it to relieve it, when the officer in charge caught up with the 78th., he saluted and said, "I had orders to leap frog you at Grand-Pre but how could I, when you was traveling faster than we," to which the officer in command replied—"How in the H— could we wait for you when we was trying to catch up with them dirty Huns."

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Lewis Beavin Narrowly Escapes Death Sunday Evening in An Automobile Smash-Up.

Lewis Beavin, who lives a short distance out the pike, is at the home of John Weatherholt in a precarious condition as a result of an automobile accident Sunday evening about 7 o'clock.

Mr. Beavin, in company with Floyd Hinton, had spent the evening in Cloverport with friends, and about 6:30 they started for home. After passing the home of John Weatherholt a short distance Mr. Beavin made a run for a very steep hill. For some unaccountable reason the machine skidded, struck a telephone pole and turned turtle badly damaging the machine.

Mr. Beavin was considerably bruised up and it is feared he is suffering from internal injuries. Mr. Hinton escaped with a few minor scratches.

Mr. Beavin was hurried to the home of Mr. Weatherholt and Dr. Chas. Lightfoot was called and dressed his wounds, and says that while he is badly hurt he is in no serious condition.

Mr. Beavin is 22 years of age and is well liked by those who know him and his friends are sorry to learn of his misfortune.

MOORMAN TELLS AIM OF LEGION

Temporary Kentucky Commander Says Service Will Be Organization Keynote.

To Name County Leaders

(From The Courier-Journal)

Direct help to returning soldiers and sailors in obtaining employment, payment of his bonus and proper understanding of his privileges as to war risk insurance or disability compensation, in addition to special relief work and an opportunity for camaraderie, will be offered in the Kentucky branches of the American Legion, according to Judge Henry De Haven Moorman, temporary State Commander for Kentucky, who, with other Kentucky delegates, passed return from the St. Louis convention through Louisville yesterday on his way to the Legion was formed.

"More than everything else, however," said Judge Moorman, when asked about Kentucky plans, "will be the opportunity of Kentucky veterans to establish themselves on the platform of broad Americanism enunciated by the St. Louis caucus, at which men who shed blood in France, with those who were held at home, stood solidly on every action against un-American tendencies. This was shown principally in the refusal of the delegates to hold their November convention in Chicago because of the alleged lack of patriotism of Mayor Thompson and further in their stirring banishment from any part in the

CARTER'S LANDING

Judge Henry DeHaven Moorman, who has just arrived from war torn France, says the biggest liar in the world could not exaggerate the condition the Germans left France if he should try to describe it.

Herbert Rush, son of Lawrence Rush, of Persimmon Flat, landed home from Germany yesterday. He was loaded down with souvenirs, gas masks, French boots, German flags, and in fact everything except the Kaiser.

Sharkey Gregory, that loving son that chased the Hun, is back in Cloverport shaking hands with his many friends. He was asked what he brought home with him as a souvenir. His answer was, "A good appetite." The only kick Sharkey has to register was he couldn't get any good tobacco. The tobacco they got over there had been reduced till it was tobacco—nit.

Herman O'Bryan, secretary of the Bachelors Club, wishes to notify the members and prospective members that his address is Tobinsport, Ind., instead of Mooleyville. He didn't make this move on account of health. He wanted to get closer to the seat of government, as the club is located in Cloverport. "Banty" Hayden reports the condition of the treasury of the club for the year: Cash on hand 29 cents; other junk, four brass buttons, three Ford cars, 1892 models, one lifesize portrait of Kaiser Bill, a history of the war by Sharkey Gregory, explaining why he didn't get the Kaiser.

Robert Simmons, who bought the Major Miller property from John Elder, says the house is so large just for him and his wife they have to use a compass and map to keep from getting lost when they go wandering around through the rooms. Joe Mulhatten, Jr.

THIS AND THAT.

"Conservation."

"September Morn'" without her robe, Was a master mind's creation; It's been the subject of many a probe— But they call it Conservation.

It's stylish now to dress that way, Although it causes consternation; But, holy smoke, look what she saves— We call it Conservation.

In ye olden times a circus tent Would about suffice to make a dress; But look at all that good money spent, When a thumb-stall serves the purpose best— That's just plain Abbreviation.

CAR LOAD OF HORSES

Bring Fair Prices—Last Saturday a Busy Day in Cloverport ---Many From Tobinsport Attend Sale.

A good crowd from the country and Tobinsport was in town last Saturday to attend the auction sale of Western mares conducted by Willard Barrett. They were a fairly good lot, and were purchased for breeding purposes. They sold well and brought good prices.

Good mules are scarce in this county and bring a fancy price. The farmers are devoting more of their time every year to stock raising and in a few years Breckenridge county will be second to none in the State when it comes to fine stock.

It took a long time for the farmers to see that it pays to raise high-class stock and a still longer time to realize the need of good roads. Good stock and good roads is what good old Breckenridge needs, and what she wants she generally gets. She is not lacking for good people—the woods is full of 'em. They are just beginning to awake from a Rip Van Winkle snooze and look about and see the need of good roads.

The Cloverport & Tobinsport ferry handled 150 passengers Saturday. The Tobinsport farmers, like the Breckenridge county farmers, are just beginning to get the mud out of their eyes to the fact that it pays to raise good stock and to have good roads.

mate at the shops, went to Louisville recently and witnessed the great Kentucky Derby. He says either his judgment was bad or the horses he picked were suffering with slow fever, he didn't know which, as he picked ten straight losers.

Byron Whitehead, a talented young brick-layer, has composed a beautiful piece of music which he has named "Hookemcowblue." It is of the dreamy Hawaiian variety and shows the artistic temperament of the composer. He has about completed a fox-trot and has decided to call it "Nacem." He says that "Hookemcowblue" sounds better played on a brick and trowel than it does on a gramophone, as he can slur the notes with more feeling.

The Henry Edward Breckinridge Gregory Riverside Park is no more. It went the way all good things go. Food stuff being scarce and high, and the man-eating tiger from the Zoo threatening to escape, the town authorities decided to do away with it and rented it to Jess Miller, a "Stringtown on the Hill" farmer. No more will we hear the sweet notes of the cricket band and the basso profundo of the bull frog. The beautiful shade trees have been deadened and the swings removed. Where once lad and lassie used to go to plead their cause and feed the little monkeys peanuts, is now only a barren waste. It is only a dream of shattered hopes and hungry coffers.

Freeman & Brown, Cow Heel farmers and stock buyers, are making preparations to feed about a hundred hogs for the fall market. They are buying anything that looks like a hog. The other day they came into town with a sack full and when they opened it and dumped them out, lo, and behold, half of them were guinea pigs and the other half prairie dogs. They being game sports they made the purchase sight unseen from Tom Satterfield, an unsophisticated farmer. They say the next sack of pigs they buy they are going to look into the sack first. The market being off on prairie dogs and guinea pigs they charged them off to profit and loss and are laying for Tom when he tries to pull off another deal at their expense.

"Buck" Weatherholt, a faithful employee at the shops, was standing on the street the other day admiring a hobbleskirt. An idea struck him that he would set the fashion for the rest of the shop men and there and then had his Sunday trousers hobbled. The next evening he came down on the street laboring under extreme difficulties. A heavy rain came up very suddenly, and "Buck" being about ten feet from shelter, came near being drowned before he could get his knife out and slit one leg of his trousers. He says the old-fashioned kind is good enough for him, but that he would like to see "Shorty" Wright with a pair of hobbled trousers on.

Will Visit Glen Dean

Mr. and Mrs. Otter Owen, Brisbane, Arizona, Will Visit in Glen Dean.

Glen Dean, Ky., May 19. (Special)—Here in the post-office hangs a very attractive calendar that came from Brisbane, Ariz. The picture represents "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," and the business name is that of Otter Owen, son of Mrs. Mary Hack Owen. He was born reared and educated here along with many others who have landed their ships on various shores.

Kentucky may well be proud of Breckenridge county's representatives, and especially those of Glen Dean. We hope to see them all written up in book form some day, especially those who were in school some 20 or 25 years ago. Many laurel wreaths we might now place, but the one already mentioned is enough for this time, as he is such a good christian and I believe clerk in a Baptist church. He is so attentive to his dear mother by writing her kind and comforting letters.

We are hoping for a visit by he and his wife in August or September, as then we are to have our annual revival conducted by Rev. J. F. Lewis our former pastor and Rev. E. B. English.

He will find on his return many young people putting forth efforts to keep his home town and community alive by their energies. Girls raising chickens and turkeys and giving to Missions and any christian work called for. Young men living up to an excellent standard by being industrious and liberal for a good cause that will help to keep up the moral standard here.

TO BUILD AT ONCE

Work on the Loose Leaf Warehouse to Start Soon—To Be of Brick and Concrete.

Construction of the loose leaf tobacco warehouse will begin in this city within the next few days. It will be erected on the site just below the ice plant, and will be 148x140 with 18,000 feet of floor space. The building will be of brick and concrete.

Mr. J. Walter Boyle was in town Friday arranging contracts for material and labor. He contracted for 22,000 feet of rough lumber from Jackson Bros., and for 18,000 feet of concrete flooring.

A feature will be the lighting of the building with special skylights. Only one other building in the Green River district is equipped with these lights, and it is acknowledged to be the best. Every thing is being planned to make this point the most important one in the Green River district outside of Owensboro.

SUDDENLY EXPIRES

John W. Tindall, Stricken With Heart Trouble, Passes Away ---Was Union Soldier.

John W. Tindall, aged 75 years and an old Union soldier, expired suddenly at his home about 5 miles from Cloverport, last Tuesday night. Mr. Tindall had been in his usual good health up to a few hours of his death. He suffered an attack of heart trouble which hastened the end.

Suffers Scalp Wound.

Edward Graves, fireman on the Henderson Route happened to a painful accident Sunday night just before leaving Howell coming east. He was performing his regular duties prior to starting when a huge lump of coal from the tender struck him a glancing blow on the head. His injuries were dressed and he came on to Cloverport where he will probably be laid up for a few days.

THE GOOD ROADS TAX CARRIES.

From reports coming in the tax has carried by a large majority—Cloverport will give 150 or 200 majority. Hardinsburg around 200, Stephensport practically all one way, Irvington good majority, Glen Dean, way over the top. The back districts have not been heard from. It is estimated that the county will go around 500. Any way there is a safe majority for the tax.

Cleaning Gold Jewelry.

When cleaning your gold jewelry you will add to the brilliance of the stones if you use warm suds made with yellow soap and warm water to which has been added ten drops of sal volatile.

"He was a good friend---
but a poor executor."

One so often hears that comment. Settling an estate successfully calls for more than good intentions. Principally it calls for years of "knowing how."

Our own considerable success in settling estates springs from long practical experience—coupled with personal kindly consideration for the families of those who leave their affairs in our hands.
